

2. Help remote employees connect in a virtual environment to share challenges and solutions. Facilitate connections between teleworkers in the same geographic area.

3. In existing networks, such as affinity groups or high potential networks, highlight expertise in your company.

4. Create a virtual work-life network to help teleworkers connect with colleagues in the same geographic area.

5. Help newcomers get connected quickly by pairing them with a well-connected mentor.

6. Add a feature to your company intranet called "How to Build a Stronger Network".

7. Ask users to rate themselves against these characteristics of "energizers".